DCRB CIRCULAR NO. D983

To All Members of the DCRB:

Re: APPROVAL OF DCRB FILING NO. 2004
BASIC MANUAL REVISIONS – SECTION 2
CODE 657, RIGGING, N.O.C.
EFFECTIVE DECEMBER 1, 2020

The Delaware Insurance Commissioner (Commissioner) has approved the DCRB's proposal to revise Basic Manual language relating to Classification Code 657, Rigging, N.O.C., for policies effective on or after 12:01 a.m., December 1, 2020. The effective date of this change is concurrent with the DCRB's annual comprehensive loss cost value and residual market rate revision, which was filed by the DCRB with the Insurance Department on August 21, 2020. This coordination will consolidate necessary changes that our members and other constituents must make to policies, forms and systems. These revisions are intended to assist in the administration of Code 657 but do not revise the scope of this or any other classification or impact any classification's DCRB loss cost value or residual market rate.

Code 657 is applied to an employer engaged in contract rigging work. Rigging, as the term is used in the construction and material handling industries, is a process used to secure materials to be moved by lifting equipment including but not necessarily limited to cranes, hoists and block and tackle. Block and tackle (sometimes referred to only as tackle) refers to a system of two or more pulleys with a rope or cable threaded between them that is used to lift heavy loads. The pulleys are assembled to form blocks and then blocks are paired so that one is fixed and one moves with the load. Code 657 may be applied to a contractor that is securing the load, is both securing and lifting the load, or is securing, lifting and moving the load to another location.

The DCRB's Classification Department staff has found, through standard employer classification reviews and telephone conversations with various constituents, that there has been some confusion regarding the scope of Code 657. Staff therefore initiated a study of Code 657 with the objectives of identifying the types of employers presently classified to Code 657 and determining if any (or all) of the Code 657 employer groups identified should be reclassified from Code 657 to some other, existing classification. Pursuant to a file by file review of employers classified to Code 657 and historical experience comparisons, staff concluded that no Code 657 employer groups should be reclassified from Code 657 to any other existing classification and that the overall scope of Code 657 is sound. DCRB Filing No. 2004 did propose revised Basic Manual language that is intended to improve the clarification and definition on the scope of Code 657.

Please refer to Filing No. 2004 for additional information on the revisions discussed above. Please contact Robert Ferrante, Senior Classification Analyst – Technical Services, at (215) 320-4584 or at rferrante@dcrb.com for any questions regarding this circular. The Basic Manual will be updated on the DCRB's website at a later date.
