To all members of the DCRB:

RE: Pennsylvania and Delaware Recognize Workers Compensation Leader Bill Taylor with Official Proclamations

In a rare moment of dual-state recognition, Bill Taylor, CEO of the Pennsylvania and Delaware Compensation Rating Bureaus (PCRB/DCRB), was honored this week with official proclamations from Pennsylvania Governor Josh Shapiro and Delaware Insurance Commissioner Trinidad Navarro in recognition of his many years of service and leadership within the workers compensation insurance industry.

The presentations took place during the 2025 PCRB & DCRB Workers Compensation Symposium, where over 200 industry professionals gathered to explore emerging trends in data, policy, and system performance. In a moving ceremony, Jodi Frantz, Chief of Staff to Pennsylvania Insurance Commissioner Michael Humphreys, delivered Governor Shapiro's proclamation, recognizing Taylor's unwavering commitment to fairness, transparency, and regulatory excellence across the Commonwealth.

Shortly thereafter, Special Deputy Commissioner Christina Miller presented a proclamation on behalf of Commissioner Navarro, commending Taylor's longstanding contributions to Delaware's insurance system, including his leadership in advancing data quality, operational modernization, and collaboration across the industry.

"These proclamations are a reflection of Bill's profound impact on the workers compensation ecosystem," said Tom Cleary, COO of PCRB and DCRB. "His legacy is one of servant leadership; quiet, consistent, and always in service to others."

Taylor's recognition underscores his more than 40 years of leadership across multiple jurisdictions, setting standards for excellence in data governance, classification systems, and stakeholder engagement.

The event served not only to celebrate past accomplishments, but to inspire future leaders to carry forward the values of service, humility, and impact that Taylor has embodied throughout his distinguished career.
